

GEORGETOWN LAUDS GUARDSMEN MEMBERS

Law School Class Holds First Quadrennial Reunion.

The loyalty and service of the District militiamen was lauded at the first quadrennial reunion of the class of 1912 of the Law School of Georgetown University, held at the University Club last night.

A large number of Georgetown University men were enlisted with the District troops, stationed at the border. Lieut. Harold H. Galliett and Ernest M. Johnson, members of the class of 1912, were among these and they were given a rousing reception by their classmates. The class has an annual reunion, but it has been planned to have a special affair here every four years on the day following the inauguration of the President of the United States.

Because of inauguration day a large number of out-of-town graduates are in Washington and those at the banquet last evening represented practically every State in the Union.

Justice Ashley M. Gould, of the District Supreme Court, was the principal guest. Daniel W. Miller, former United States attorney for the District, and Frank J. Hogan, both of whom are on the faculty of the Law School of Georgetown, were guests at the banquet and responded to toasts.

William E. Leahy, assistant District attorney and president of the class, presided as toastmaster.

J. C. Allicote, R. C. Shelsie and Lou Korn, comprising the entertainment committee, had made elaborate preparations.

A number of clever parodies were rendered, one of these being to the tune "Tramp! Tramp! Tramp!" which ran in part:

"Prohibition's coming soon—
Exit barroom and saloon;
And we'll put the Demon Rum upon the blink,
Quiet as a maiden's prayer,
Water, water, everywhere,
And not a solitary drop to drink."

Chorus
"Dram, dram, dram, the boys are parching;
Cheer up comrades, face the foe.
If you're feeling very sore,
Take your thirst to Baltimore, etc."

The committee in charge of the reunion was headed by Paul B. Cromelin.

Those present included: John W. Allicote, John H. Bittenbender, Bernard L. Berger, George I. Berger, Selig C. Bree, F. I. Brown, Joe C. Brown, Claude W. Calvin, Jos. L. B. Chisholm, Clyde H. Clark, The Rev. R. Clark, Harry C. Cox, Paul B. Cromelin, Leo J. Dougherty, Harry J. Gerrity, Jos. C. Hemphill, Louis L. Korn, Arthur L. Lansdale, Wm. E. Leahy, Lee D. Loughran, John F. McCarron, Wilson F. McCray, John F. McHale, John McMichael, Charles E. McManus, J. Elliot Moran, Abram F. Myers, Armand Offutt, Robt. S. Regar, J. Forrest Reilly, Monte Sanger, Howard A. Schlatt, Edward M. Schwartz, Ronne C. Shelsie, James L. Watta, David Witten, Jos. H. Ellbre, Jos. R. Jones, Howard M. McLarin, Jered A. Maguire, J. Louis Monarch, Jno. F. Wilmet, Wm. A. Coombe.

WILL DYNAMITE ICE FOR MISSING GIRL

Believe Ruth Cruger Fell in Lake While Skating.

Special to The Washington Herald.
New York, March 6.—Alonso Cooper, of the fourth branch detective bureau, at the direction of Assistant District Attorney Doelling, will make application this afternoon of Park Commissioner Whittle, of the Bronx, for permission to dynamite the ice and drag the upper end of the Van Cortlandt Park lake to determine whether Ruth Cruger, the missing Washington Heights girl, accidentally fell through while skating on the day of her disappearance.

Many persons believe that the girl, who was an expert skater, ventured too near soft ice at the upper end of the lake where several springs have their outlet.

Mr. Doelling received information that Mrs. Alfredo Cocchi, wife of the missing motorcycle repair man, received a letter today dated "Ruth Cruger," in which the writer stated that Cocchi was "all right," and advising her not to worry. Doelling believes that it was the work of a practical joker.

DECIDES BRITISH SHIP IS NOT GERMAN PRIZE

The British ship Appam, brought into Newport News, Va., a year ago by Capt. Berg and a German prize crew, was held to be the property of her British owners by the Supreme Court yesterday.

The court in sustaining the British libel attachment suits held that the Germans had violated American neutrality, as treaties between the United States and Germany do not entitle German prizes, unaccompanied by the captor ship, to indefinite asylum in American ports.

EATS SNOWBALL AND DIES.

New York, March 6.—Seven-year-old John Zima, Jr., of Union Hill, N. J., ate a hearty meal yesterday noon and then went out to join playmates. They romped about the streets for an hour or so when young Zima remarked that he was overheated and was going home to get a glass of water.

"Why don't you eat a snowball?" suggested one of his companions. "It will do you just as much good."

The boy molded a ball of snow and ate it. Then he resumed his play, but a minute later dropped unconscious.

He was hurried to the North Hudson Hospital, where he died. The physicians there said the eating of the snowball when his stomach was overheated brought on acute gastritis.

Washington in Battle; Can't Agree with Wife

Thomas Washington, colored, 38 years old, last night proved that he was the latter half of the pair of which the other half is Martha Washington, colored, 37 years old. It seems, according to the report at police headquarters, that there was a little family row in which Martha came off the victor. Thomas received slight wounds of the scalp, while Martha had her shoulder dislocated and was conveyed in the ambulance.

VISITING HOSTS DEPART; UNION STATION LONELY

Preliminary Arrangements by Railroads Make Transportation Easy.

Without any of the jamming and rushing of former inaugurations the thousands of visitors who sojourned here for the fete have passed back through the portals of Union Station to awaiting trains. Early this morning the improvised information booths, barricades, and signs had all been torn down, and the waiting rooms and concourse took on their normal aspect.

All special trains carrying civic delegations and military organizations, practically left late in the afternoon or early evening and the scores of detectives and special policemen had returned to their homes.

Robert Kusick, Philadelphia's chief of police, who always comes down to help out at inauguration times, said last night that the remarkable record made of no arrests in the station was due, he thought, to the fact that no liquor had been sold during the fete days.

Careful arrangements made in advance by the various railroad companies for the handling of the outgoing passengers was also a factor responsible. No trains leaving either Monday or last night were seriously delayed.

BACK-YARD FARMING URGED BY CITIZENS

Residents of Columbia Heights Want Government Garden Seeds.

Promotion of back-yard gardening by Washington school children as a remedial measure to cut the cost of living, was advocated in a resolution introduced by J. Clinton Hatt and unanimously passed by the Columbia Heights Citizens' Association which met in Postoffice Hall last night.

Congress is asked in the resolution to grant the Board of District Commissioners the privilege of franking garden and flower seeds to residents and that an appropriation be made for the purpose of free distribution of seeds here. Copies of the resolution were ordered forwarded to the District Committee of Congress, to the Commissioners and Board of Education.

Discussion of telephone rates was deferred. The committee on public utilities was not prepared to submit its report.

Further discussion was given W. I. Swanton's special report on taxation, which the association is passing or rejecting measure by measure.

New members admitted to the association were George D. Parsons, Emory M. Wilson, James E. Smith, Charles S. Davis, Royal E. Burnham, H. H. Carson and J. W. Gidley.

SHOW MORE PETTICOATS IS URGE OF EDUCATORS

Why Bring 'Em and Hide 'Em? Asks School President.

Why should women cover up their stunning petticoats with long skirts? This is an interesting question that came up in a National Educational Association conference at Indianapolis the other day, and it will interest Washington women as much as anyone.

"I don't think," said President C. H. Keyes, of the Skidmore School of Arts, of Saratoga, N. Y., "that women need rigid observation of economy in what is visible in their dress as they do in what they wear underneath. I speak as a husband and the father of two married daughters, and I ought to know what it costs to outfit a woman."

Several Washington husbands who were interviewed last night said that women ought either to show their good petticoats or buy cheaper ones.

BRITISH NEAR-SLAYERS ARE PLACED ON TRIAL

Women and Man Charged With Plotting Premier's Murder.

(By the International News Service.)
Derby, Eng., March 6.—A crowd that filled Central Criminal Court and overflowed into the surrounding streets attended the opening today of the trial of the three women and a man, charged with plotting to murder Premier David Lloyd George and Arthur Henderson, member of the British war council.

The prisoners, Mrs. Alice Wheeldon, Miss Kitty Wheeldon, Mrs. Albert George Mason and her husband, Albert George Mason, viewed the preliminary proceedings with complete indifference. They cast their eyes at the court room looking for acquaintances in the throng and paying no attention to attorneys.

The attorney general, Sir Frederick E. Smith, was present in person to direct the prosecution.

WOMAN QUITS JAIL ON PATH OF FLOWERS

Birth Control Advocate Lionized by Gotham Society.

(By the International News Service.)
New York, March 6.—Thronging of cheering men and women greeted Mrs. Margaret Sanger when she walked out of the Queens County jail today after serving a sentence of thirty days for disseminating birth control information.

The martial strains of the "Marsellaise" went up just before Mrs. Sanger walked from the prison door and from the windows of the women's prison there echoed back the voices of the prisoners joining in the song. Flowers were strewn before the little birth control advocate as she walked down the prison steps. She was presented with a huge bouquet, the tribute of the mothers of the tenement district of Brownsville, where she has done much to further birth control knowledge.

Wealthy women whisked Mrs. Sanger away in a limousine and she was given a testimonial breakfast with many women prominent in society.

Friday evening a dinner will be given in honor of Mrs. Sanger and Scott Nearing, of Toledo University, will be a speaker.

Mrs. Sanger wound up her thirty days sentence with a lively battle against two prison keepers who attempted to take her finger prints. For two hours and a half she delayed her release while she argued and fought against the imprisonment of her fingers being taken.

"They didn't get them," she declared defiantly as she left the prison. "It's time the authorities learned to discriminate between political prisoners and cut-throats."

SLICK PICKPOCKETS WORK DURING PARADE

One Victim Robbed of $118 and Another of $65.

Despite the fact that 3,000 detectives and special officers were employed to protect President Wilson and to see that criminals did not ply their trade in Washington during the inauguration, there were a few cases where professional "crooks" succeeded in grabbing a few bank rolls, pocket books and articles of jewelry.

Sixty-five dollars all neatly folded in a purse was the reward of the "dip" who yesterday morning succeeded in slipping his hand into the pocket of Hiram H. Dyer, 235 Sherman avenue, northwest, while he was in the vicinity of Seventh street and Pennsylvania avenue.

James G. Eubank, of Richmond, Va., reported to the police that $118 had been taken from his pocket Monday during the inaugural procession. The theft took place near Twelfth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest.

OLD GOVERNMENT CLERK DIES AT SON'S HOME

Michael Scanlan died yesterday at the home of Judge Klockham Scanlan, of the Circuit Court, at Chicago. Mr. Scanlan was employed at the State Department for more than thirty years, and under James G. Blaine, founded the Consular Reports.

He was intimate with Lincoln, Grant, Garfield, Grover and many of the prominent men of his day.

He is survived by a son, two daughters and several grandchildren.

EVEN THE ZOO IS HIT BY HIGH LIVING COST

May Trim Daily Allowance of Eggs to Monkeys.

It's going to cost the Government a lot more than $23,000 to feed the animals at the zoo this year.

With the monkeys eating about 50 dozen eggs a month, and the price of those eggs ranging around 50 and 60 cents a dozen; and the bears and other big animals chewing up about 600 pounds of fresh beef a day; and the sea-lions swallowing several tubs of white-fish a day, the cost of living at the zoo has gone up frightfully.

It cost the Government just $23,000 to feed the animals last year, and the cost was this low simply because contracts were made for a year's supply of meat. Since then meat has gone up enormously and when new contracts are made in a month or two there will be new prices.

So many provision dealers have lost money on yearly contracts for zoo supplies that the vegetables and eggs have to be purchased from month to month at market prices.

The monkeys and other small animals must have vegetables and eggs, and the eggs have to be the best candied eggs or fresh eggs, quite fit for humans. White and graham flour, which is used to make the brown molasses bread for the bears and other animals, has gone up also.

HAS TRANSOM WIRELESS DOWN UNDER CAPITOL

Electrician Finds Lofty Towers Are Altogether Unnecessary.

Harry Buckingham, an electrician at the Capitol, has found a novel way to regulate his clock.

The electrician has a shop-beneath the Capitol, and in their spare time they study the workings of wireless instruments and the Morse code, so that they can get into the service in event of war. Buckingham wanted to set up an aerial station but found there was not a chance. He began to experiment with miniature aerials in his shop and one day he tossed some wire over the metal frame of the transom of the door. He "listened in," out of curiosity, and was amazed to hear the Radio station at Arlington talking.

Arlington sends out the time at noon each day and the weather at 10 o'clock each night and Buckingham can hear the message.

Modern electric lighting costs about one-twenty-fifth as much as illumination with sperm oil or candles a century ago.

Instant Relief! Neutralize stomach acidity and stop dyspepsia, pain, heartburn, belching. Try it!

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sick, gassy and upset, and what you just eat has fermented and turned sour; head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin to help neutralize acidity and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have dyspepsia. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps the stomach sweetened and they eat their favorite foods without fear.
